Trial Guidelines for the Conservation of Virginia's Historic Bridges Paula A. C. Spero,1986 Interest in the preservation of historic engineering structures has increased dramatically over the past decade Because civil engineering structures primarily serve functions in the public domain their preservation focuses attention on what appear to be diametrically opposed legislative mandates Thus today s bridge repair and replacement projects bring together two sets of professionals whose divergent approaches have seemingly been established by legislation whose ultimate aim is the public good The identification and evaluation of structures and a commitment to conservation plans are necessary initial steps for the retention of historically significant bridges The successful implementation of bridge conservation plans is vitally dependent upon acceptable guidelines and standards that accommodate the perspectives of both the preservation community and transportation agencies This report presents principles priorities and guidelines for historic bridges that are consistent with current guidelines used in the conservation of historic buildings

Chief Editor for Frontiers in Built Environment I am happy to present this curated selection of papers that have made a significant impact within our community. Among the large number of submissions that we received these 14 papers represent some of the best published in 2023, the year when the journal attained its first impact factor. With many high quality papers to consider in selecting these 14 articles we faced the challenging task of how to include papers from across the 15 distinct sections of the journal whilst at the same time achieving a sense of cohesion to the ebook overall. However amidst this diversity we noticed a convergence in our highest quality papers around three pivotal themes that are central to our journal's mission: resilience, sustainability, and technology. In this way despite the broad range of topics covered within both our journal and this selection, this ebook can truly be considered representative of our journal as a whole. These carefully chosen papers encompass high quality original research and comprehensive reviews which also embody the ethos of innovation and excellence that defines our journal. As the Field Chief Editor I am thankful to all authors who have enriched our journal with their high caliber work. I extend sincere appreciation to the dedicated efforts of our editors and reviewers whose invaluable contributions have been instrumental in shaping Frontiers in Built Environment in 2023.
