The New York Times Theatre Reviews 1999-2000 New York Times Theater Reviews, 2001-12 This volume is a comprehensive collection of critical essays on The Taming of the Shrew and includes extensive discussions of the play's various printed versions and its theatrical productions Aspinall has included only those essays that offer the most influential and controversial arguments surrounding the play The issues discussed include gender authority female autonomy and unruliness courtship and marriage language and speech and performance and theatricality

Spectrums of Shakespearean Crossdressing Courtney Bailey Parker, 2019-10-21 Since young male players were the norm during the English Renaissance were all cross dressed performances of female characters played with the same degree of seriousness Probably not

Spectrums of Representation in Shakespearean Crossdressing examines these varied types of female characters in English Renaissance drama drawing from a range of play texts themselves in order to investigate if evidence exists for varying performance practices for male to female crossdressing This book argues for a reading of the representation of female characters on the English Renaissance stage that not only suggests categorizing crossdressing along a spectrum of theatrical artifice but also explores how this range of artifice enriches our understanding of the plays The scholarship surrounding cross dressing rarely makes this distinction since in our study of early modern plays we tend to accept as a matter of course that all crossdressing was essentially the same The basis of Spectrums of Representation in Shakespearean Crossdressing is that it was not

Croxton Play of the Sacrament John T Sebastian, 2013-01-01 The Croxton Play of the Sacrament which survives in a single sixteenth century copy dramatizes the physical abuse by five Muhammad worshipping Syrian Jews of a Host the bread consecrated by a priest during the Christian Mass The text is the work of a playwright possessed of a tremendous theatrical imagination notwithstanding his choice of subject matter
