Interactions between Animals and Humans in Graeco-Roman Antiquity Thorsten Fögen, Edmund V. Thomas, 2017-08-21 The seventeen contributions to this volume written by leading experts show that animals and humans in Graeco Roman antiquity are interconnected on a variety of different levels and that their encounters and interactions often result from their belonging to the same structures networks and communities or at least from finding themselves together in a certain setting context or environment wittingly or unwittingly Papers explore the concrete categories of interaction between animals and humans that can be identified in what contexts they occur and what types of evidence can be productively used to examine the concept of interactions Articles in this volume take into account literary visual and other types of evidence A comprehensive research bibliography is also provided Ancient Interactions Katherine V. Land-ocean Interactions, 1999 Proceedings of Cycad 2005 Andrew P. Vovides, Dennis William Stevenson, Roy Osborne, 2007 The Interactions of Ancient Astral Science David Brown, 2018-07-20 Why and when did ancient scholars make the enormous effort to understand the principles and master the mathematics of foreign astral sciences This work provides a detailed analysis of the invention development and transmission of astronomy astrology astral religion magic and medicine cosmology and cosmography astral mapping geography and calendrics and their related mathematics and instrumentation in and between Mesopotamia Egypt the West Semitic areas Greece and Rome Iran India and China It considers the available textual evidence from the most ancient times to the seventh century CE The author has worked the contributions of eight internationally renowned scholars into what amounts to a new history of the oldest sciences The result is a challenging read for the layperson and a resource for the expert and includes an extensive index to the entire volume It provides a new typology of cultural interactions and by describing their socio political backdrop offers a cultural history of the region In particular astral science in the Hellenistic period west of the Tigris is completely re evaluated and a new model of the interactions of Western and Indian and Iranian astral sciences is provided Cultural Interactions and Social Strategies on the Pontic Shores Jane Hjarl Petersen, 2010 In Antiquity the Black Sea region was a meeting point for several different population groups with diverse cultural backgrounds The present monograph takes its point of departure in burial data from four coastal localities in the northern region of the Black Sea The mortuary practices are decoded and interpreted within a framework mainly based on concepts of cultural interaction rather than cultural polarisation Thus the dogma of The Greeks and the Others is challenged and alternative perceptions of interactions between the people in the Black Sea region form the basis of the study The burials are primarily analysed with emphasis on social strategies and cultural diversity

Furthermore the Black Sea region is set into a comparative perspective through an outlook on burial customs and mortuary practices in the colonial milieu of contemporary Southern Italy Science, 1926 Vols for 1911-13 contain the Proceedings of the Helminthological Society of Washington ISSN 0018-0120 1st-15th meeting Variology Gloria Custance, 2005 Our endeavour is not to explain the history of the media as a consecutive retrospective but to move from reflections about the deep time history of arts and sciences to speculations that reach into the present The contributors to the third volume in the Variology Series expand our ideas of the interplay between arts, technology and science in at least three important ways 1 Themes Fireworks as a time-based praxis of performance magnetised chess automata paper cuts thermometers radical interventions in the natural landscape by humans and the compass are revealed as areas where discoveries can be made that lead to much broader and richer concepts of what art and media are 2 Regions As we move with the authors from Europe to the Far East and back again it becomes absolutely clear that the history of the media cannot be written with only the former industrial metropolises of the world in our sights beginning and ending there 3 Time The evolution of the Chinese culture of science and technology takes us into dimensions that add unsuspected energies and historical possibilities to the concept of deep time Brecht's verdict from the 1920s that Chinese civilisation has already forgotten about innovations that the West proudly celebrates as innovations of the Modern Age is given new meaning Publisher's description Canaanites, Chronologies, and Connections Susan L. Cohen, 2002 The Middle Bronze Age MB IIA in Canaan set the stage for many of the cultural, political and economic institutions in the ancient Near East Theoretical models for the analysis of complex societies examine textual, pictorial and archaeological evidence Annual Meeting Abstracts Archaeological Institute of America. Annual Meeting, 2005 Interaction, 1994 Traces of Ancestry Martin Jones, 2004 In 1987 Colin Renfrew's Archaeology and Language challenged many perceptions about how one language family spread across large parts of the world In doing so he re-invigorated an important exchange between archaeologists and historical linguists At precisely the same time a quite separate field, human genetics, was making considerable steps forward in the elucidation of human ancestry These three parallel lines of enquiry into genes, words and things have over the ensuing two decades entirely transformed our perceptions of the human past This volume brings together contributors to that transformation from around the world to honour Colin Renfrew with a series of key papers They include a number of impressive synthetic statements as well as case studies at the frontiers of three different branches of research They range from global accounts of human dispersal through to archaeological, genetic and linguistic studies illustrating what has been achieved over the past two decades and the most promising avenues of research for the future ANTIQUITY Martin Carver, 2004 Land-ocean Interactions Erdal Özhan, 1999
