chapters report on basic sensory skill development at the kindergarten level and reflect on the concepts and practices that make a difference in the lives of young learners. The authors examine four programs including the widely heralded Success for All program that show promise in helping children get ready for early learning success. The authors also describe effective preschool programs and principles and they look at how an awareness of multiple intelligences and individual learning needs can be useful. Three of the chapters include stories that illustrate some ways to prevent failure. One story describes a classroom teacher who learned to think differently about student behavior, another describes innovative ways a school dealt with three problem children, and the third tells about the productive relationship of a young boy, his mother, and his teacher. We cannot afford to let children in the early years of school fall into a pattern of failure that will affect them, their families, and their communities throughout a lifetime. Preventing Early Learning Failure offers practical approaches to help develop every child's capacity for learning and ensure that no child will be left behind. In 2006, based on the recommendation of the Washington Learns Commission, Governor Christine Gregoire created the Department of Early Learning to bring the state's early learning programs together under one agency. Together with Thrive by Five Washington, a public-private partnership, the Department of Early Learning is working to provide resources and support for families, child care providers, and communities to ensure that every child in Washington state has access to high-quality, safe, and healthy early education. The Gates Foundation has supported several key projects to create a strong, coordinated early learning system that measures and improves the quality of services for children. These projects are: 1. WaKIDS, 2. Seeds to Success, 3. Preschool Through Third Grade Alignment, and 4. Home Visiting. The Gates Foundation is committed to working with a broad range of partners to increase school readiness.
