Downing,1986 This is a psychohistorical study of Martin Luther King making use of James Fowler s faith development theory and Erik Erikson s conception of the Homo Religiosus Downing argues that previous studies have placed an inordinate emphasis on the intellectual development of King s thought and have failed to give sufficient attention to his early childhood experiences Downing reveals the real rather than the mythic King and attempts to show a clear distinction between the early and the later King between the King calling for reconciliation and the King calling into question the whole structure of American society ISBN 0 86554 207 4 27 50 The Greenwood Encyclopedia of African American Literature: D-H Hans A. Ostrom,J. David Macey,2005 Designed to meet the needs of high school students undergraduates and general readers this encyclopedia is the most comprehensive reference available on African American literature from its origins to the present Other works include many brief entries or offer extended biographical sketches of a limited selection of writers This encyclopedia surpasses existing references by offering full and current coverage of a vast range of authors and topics While most of the entries are on individual authors the encyclopedia gathers together information about the genres and geographical and cultural environments in which these writers have worked and the social political and aesthetic movements in which they have participated Thus the encyclopedia gives special attention to the historical and cultural forces that have shaped African American writing Publisher
