

The Cognitive Turn in History

4 and 5 November 2021
Academiegebouw Groningen

The participants of the workshop are cultural and intellectual historians of the premodern periods and/or of the historiography of academia from a long-term perspective, e.g. the influence of 19th and early 20th century on disciplinary thinking. The main idea is to evaluate or apply the cognitive methodologies and to understand how they developed in the history of education and research, in order to explore psychic and mental processes, phenomenological experience, and emotional states of individuals from the premodern past, as well as the way we as moderns relate to these historical interpretations.
