Binary Star:

Planets in Binary Star Systems Nader Haghighipour, 2010-06-03 In 1988 in an article on the analysis of the measurements of the variations in the radial velocities of a number of stars Campbell Walker and Yang reported an interesting phenomenon the radial velocity variations of Cephei seemed to suggest the existence of a Jupiter like planet around this star This was a very exciting and at the same time very surprising discovery It was exciting because if true it would have marked the detection of the first planet outside of our solar system It was surprising because the planet hosting star is the primary of a binary system with a separation less than 19 AU a distance comparable to the planetary distances in our solar system The moderately close orbit of the stellar companion of Cephei raised questions about the reality of its planet The skepticism over the interpretation of the results which was primarily based on the idea that binary star systems with small separations would not be favorable places for planet formation became so strong that in a subsequent paper in 1992 Walker and his colleagues suggested that the planet in the Cephei binary might not be real and the variations in the radial velocity of this star might have been due to its chromospheric activities
