Christened Chinaman:

The Christened Chinaman Andrey Bely, 1991 Bely's autobiographical novel describes family life and the academic circles of Moscow at the end of the nineteenth century. It captures the memory and imagination of a child in the sustained rhythmic prose of an adult Symbolist poet and theoretician. This translation seeks to convey accurately the complexity and special magic of Bely's ornamental prose.

Russian Literature and Psychoanalysis Daniel Rancour-Laferrriere, 1989-01-01 This is a collection of psychoanalytical essays on a broad spectrum of well-known Russian authors such as Pushkin, Dostoevsky, Gogol, Belyj, Tjutchev, Axmatova, and Nabokov. The volume includes some reprints, among which a contribution by Sigmund Freud on Dostoevsky and Parricide. The majority of the contributions are original publications by present-day specialists in the field. This is a book which may benefit literary scholars as well as professional psychoanalysts.

Socrates in Russia, 2022-10-04 This volume explores the influence of the Socratic legacy in the Russian, East European, and Soviet contexts. For writers, philosophers, and artists, Socrates has served as a potent symbol of the human capacity for philosophical reflection, as well as the tumultuous and often dangerous reality in which Russian-speaking and Soviet intellectuals found themselves. The thirteen chapters include surveys of historical periods and movements: the 18th century, Nietzscheanism, and the Greek Renaissance of Russian culture; studies of individual writers and philosophers: Skovoroda, Herzen, Dostoevsky, Rozanov, Bely, Narbut, and many others; and investigations of Socratic subtexts, e.g., in Bulgakov's Master and Margarita and Nosov's Neznaika series for children. The volume concludes with a Socratic Texts section of new translations. The plurality of these topics demonstrates the continued relevance of the Socratic myth, not only for Russian-speaking culture but for the world.

The Philippine Islands John Foreman (F.R.G.S.), 1906

Andrey Bely John E. Malmstad, 2019-05-15 No figure in the turn of the century Russia, John Malmstad asserts, better epitomizes the paradoxes of that era than Andrey Bely (1880-1934). Eulogized by Boris Pasternak as the most remarkable writer of our age and now widely regarded as the seminal figure in Russian modernism and as one of the major writers of this century, Bely subjected the received standards of truth and value in literature to a penetrating and radical critique. After a long period of suppression under the Stalinist regime, Bely has become the object of growing critical attention in both East and West. Originating in a symposium held in 1984 under the auspices of the Harriman Institute at Columbia University on the fiftieth anniversary of Bely's death, this volume includes ten essays by established scholars of modern Russian literature, including leading Western specialists on Bely. The essays survey Bely's major works in all genres, summarize present research on Bely, reassess critical approaches, and offer fresh interpretations. Analytic summaries of primary works make the essays fully accessible to non-Slavist readers.
