Crystal Boys:

Crystal Boys Xianyong Bai, Hsien-yung Pai, 1990 Crystal Boys is the first Chinese novel on gay themes. A qing, the adolescent hero, comes from an impoverished family. His father casts him out after learning that his son is gay. A qing drifts into New Park, a gay hangout in Taipei, and begins his life as a hustler. He meets other boys living on the street, also forsaken by their families: Little Jade, who is constantly searching for his unknown father; Mousey, an orphan and petty thief; and Wu Min, a shy and tender kid who attempts suicide when discarded by a middle-aged man. These four boys become fast friends and are taken under the protection of Chief Yang, a fiftyish gay guru in the Park. The boys begin to build a family of their own. Meanwhile, A qing meets Dragon Prince, whose passionate and fateful love for Phoenix Boy has become a legend in the Park. The second part of the novel deals with the Cozy Nest, a gay bar run by Chief Yang, where the boys and other homosexual exiles have found a refuge. The bar is sponsored by Papa Fu, whose young soldier son had shot himself when his homosexuality was exposed. In Taiwan, the gay community is known as the buoliquan, literally glass community, while the individuals are called glass boys or crystal boys.

Situating Sexualities Fran Martin, 2003-05-01 This is the first book in English to analyse the stunning rise to prominence of cultures of dissident sexuality in Taiwan during the 1990s. Positioned at the crossroads of queer theory and postcolonial cultural studies, this book intervenes in current debates on sexuality and globalization to argue that the current emergence of public dissident sexualities in non-Western locations like Taiwan cannot be reduced to the effects of homogenizing Westernization. Instead, Situating Sexualities approaches the queer sexualities represented in recent Taiwanese fiction, film, and public culture as dynamic formations that combine local knowledge with globalizing discourses on gay and lesbian identity to produce sexualities that are multiple, shifting, and inherently hybrid. Equally, the book pushes out the limits of queer to challenge the Eurocentrism of much queer theory to date. Consistently critical of essentializing accounts of Chinese culture, the book nevertheless highlights some of the important ways in which Taiwanese formations of dissident sexuality differ from the familiar Euro-American formations.

Queer Literature in the Sinosphere Hongwei Bao, Yahia Zhengtang Ma, 2024-11-14 Queer Literature in the Sinosphere is the most up-to-date English language study of lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and queer LGBTQ-themed literature and culture in the Chinese-speaking world. From classical homoerotic texts to contemporary boys' love fan fiction, this book showcases the richness and diversity of queer Chinese literature across the full spectrum of genres, styles, topics, and cultural politics. The book features authors and literary works from mainland China, Hong Kong, Taiwan, Singapore, and the global Chinese diaspora. Featuring chapters by leading scholars from around the world, this book rewrites literary history and culture from a queer lens in China and globally.

Transformation! Innovation? Christina Neder, Ines-Susanne Schilling, 2003 Public discourse on cultural identity was not possible on the island of Taiwan until martial law was lifted there in 1987 While until then culture had mainly been an arena for the suppressed political discourse the demise of the one party reign of the Guomindang KMT at the end of the 20th century signified not only the transformation from an autocratic to a democratic system but also the end of the cultural hegemony of the mainlanders on the island The transformation process paved the way for further cultural innovation the keywords here being education reform language debate establishment of new academic disciplines historiographic reconstruction etc It has also led to a widespread discussion of a specifically Taiwanese cultural identity which is reflected in literature language art theatre and film The international workshop Transformation Innovation Taiwan in her Cultural Dimensions held at Ruhr University in Bochum from March 7th 9th 2001 set out to shed new light on these issues and generated an intensive discussion of potential new interdisciplinary approaches to cultural and literary research in the field of Taiwan studies
