First Studies in Dramatic Art Enid Rose, 1926 Camp Comforts Christian Lassen, 2014-03-15 Camp Comforts investigates the wide ranging impact of camp on AIDS literature and places this impact within two different traditions of camp analysis a politically subversive one that aims at social change and an aesthetically uplifting one that aims at personal healing Christian Lassen argues that camp may in fact serve both ends social change and personal healing and goes on to explore reparative reading practices in order to rehabilitate alleviation and relief as vital objectives in literary representations of gay grief In this way Camp Comforts reveals the workings that make camp so crucial a strategy for survival in times of AIDS

The Studio, 1915 The academy, 1875 The Madwoman in the Attic Sandra M. Gilbert, Susan Gubar, 2020-03-17 A feminist classic Judith Shulevitz New York Times Book Review A pivotal book one of those after which we will never think the same again Carolyn G Heilbrun Washington Post Book World A pathbreaking book of literary criticism is now reissued with a new introduction by Lisa Appignanesi that speaks to how The Madwoman in the Attic set the groundwork for subsequent generations of scholars writing about women writers and why the book still feels fresh some four decades later

Theatre Arts Magazine, 1928 Theatre Arts Monthly, 1929 Balzac Edgar Saltus, 1884 Jacques Copeau Maurice Kurtz, 1999 The French writer editor and drama critic Jacques Copeau 1879-1949 opened his Th tre du Vieux Colombier in Paris in 1913 Copeau was well on his way to exerting a major influence in the theater in the year that saw the end of the career of the dominant innovator of an earlier generation Andr Antoine whose Th tre Libre Free Stage had featured an uncompromising realism In marked contrast to Antoine Copeau returned the poetry and freshness to Shakespeare and Moli re By May 1914 Paris and Europe had recognized his genius and his special gift to the theater Yet like Antoine Copeau wanted to sweep staginess from the stage to banish overacting overdressing and flashy house trappings To cleanse the stage of its artificiality he created a fixed architectural acting space where dramatic literature and theater technique could live in harmony and thrive in freedom of thought and movement A major part of his program was teaching actors and actresses their craft Maurice Kurtz points out that the Th tre du Vieux Colombier incarnates the ideal of Copeau's stubborn struggle to remain strong in the face of indifference independent in the face of success proud in the face of defeat It is the story of group spirit in its purest most eloquent form the spirit of personal sacrifice of all for the dignity of their art Kurtz here re-creates the vitality Copeau imbued in theater artists throughout the world He conveys Copeau's enthusiasm the crusading spirit that enabled Copeau and his Th tre du Vieux Colombier to transform experimentation into tradition into the heritage of civilization He has written
