The Routledge Handbook of Stylistics Michael Burke, 2017-11-27 The Routledge Handbook of Stylistics provides a comprehensive introduction and reference point to key areas in the field of stylistics. The four sections of the volume encompass a wide range of approaches from classical rhetoric to cognitive neuroscience and cover core issues that include historical perspectives centring on rhetoric formalism and functionalism the elements of stylistic analysis that include the linguistic levels of foregrounding relevance theory conversation analysis narrative metaphor speech acts speech and thought presentation and point of view current areas of hot topic research such as cognitive poetics corpus stylistics and feminist critical stylistics emerging and future trends including the stylistics of multimodality creative writing hypertext fiction and neuroscience. Each of the thirty two chapters provides an introduction to the subject an overview of the history of the topic an analysis of the main current and critical issues a section with recommendations for practice and a discussion of possible future trajectory of the subject. This handbook includes chapters written by some of the leading stylistics scholars in the world today including Jean Boase Beier Joe Bray Michael Burke Beatrix Busse Ronald Carter Billy Clark Barbara Dancygier Catherine Emmott Charles Forceville Margaret Freeman Christiana Gregoriou Geoff Hall Patrick Colm Hogan Lesley Jeffries Marina Lambrou Michaela Mahlberg Rocío Montoro Nina N rgaard Dan Shen Michael Toolan and Sonia Zyngier. The Routledge Handbook of Stylistics is essential reading for researchers postgraduates and undergraduate students working in this area.

The Agency of the Apostle Jeffrey A. Crafton, 1991-01-01 In this interdisciplinary study Paul's enigmatic rhetoric in 2 Corinthians is analysed and explained using dramatism a modern critical theory developed by Kenneth Burke. Three portions of 2 Corinthians are isolated and examined as fitting responses to distinct stages in Paul's changing relationship to the Corinthian Christians. In the Letter of Initial Response 2:14-7:4 Paul responds to the beginning of the conflict with an argument defined by the opposition between agency and agent conceptions of ministry. In the Letter of Attack chs 10-13 Paul replies to the apex of the crisis by playing the role of the foolish agent in order to gain a hearing and drive the Corinthians out of their orientation. In the Letter of Reconciliation 1:3-2:13 7:5-16 Paul rehearses the symbolic purification which has occurred in this conflict.

Rhetorical Animals Kristian Bjørkdahl, Alex C. Parrish, 2017-11-30 For this edited volume the editors solicited chapters that investigate the place of nonhuman animals in the purview of rhetorical theory what it would mean to communicate beyond the human community how rhetoric reveals our brute roots. In other words this book investigates themes that enlighten us about likely or possible implications of the animal turn within rhetorical studies. The present book is unique in its focus on the call for nonanthropocentrism in rhetorical studies. Although there have been many hints in recent years that rhetoric is beginning to consider the implications of the animal turn as yet no other anthology makes this its explicit starting point and sustained objective. Thus the various contributions to this book promise to further the ongoing debate about what rhetoric might be after it sheds its long standing humanistic bias.

The Dominion of Voice Kimberly K. Smith, 1999 In this work of historically informed political theory Kimberly Smith sets out to understand how nineteenth century Americans answered the question of how the people should participate in politics Did rational public debate the ideal that most democratic theorists now venerate transcend all other forms of political expression How and why did passion disappear from the ideology if not the practice of American democracy To answer these questions she focuses on the political culture of the urban North during the turbulent Jacksonian Age roughly 1830-50 when the shape and character of the democratic public were still fluid Smith's method is to interpret in light of such popular discourse as newspapers and novels several key texts in nineteenth century American political thought Frederick Douglass's Fourth of July speech and Narrative Angelina Grimke's debate with Catharine Beecher Frances Wright's lectures and Harriet Beecher Stowe's Uncle Tom's Cabin Such texts Smith finds highlight many of the then current ideas about the extremes of political expression Her readings support the conclusions that the value of rational argument itself was contested that the emergent Enlightenment rationalism may have helped to sterilize political debate and that storytelling or testimony posed an important challenge to the norm of political rationality Smith explores facets of the political culture in ways that make sense of traditions from Whiggish resistance to Protestant narrative testimony She helps us to understand such puzzles as the point of mob action and other ritualistic disruptions of the political process our simultaneous attraction to and suspicion of political debates and the appeal of stories by and about victims of injustice Also found in her book are keen analyses of the antebellum press and the importance of oratory and public speaking Smith shows that alternatives to reasoned deliberation like protest resistance and storytelling have a place in politics Such alternatives underscore the positive role that interest passion compassion and even violence might play in the political life of America Her book therefore is a cautionary analysis of how rationality came to dominate our thinking about politics and why its hegemony should concern us Ultimately Smith reminds the reader that democracy and reasoned public debate are not synonymous and that the linkage is not necessarily a good thing The working principles of rhetoric, examined in their literary John
