Cognitive Landscape:

Ecology, Cognition and Landscape Almo Farina, 2009-11-23 It is more and more evident that our living system is completely disturbed by human intrusion. Such intrusion affects the functioning of entire systems in ways we do not yet fully understand. We use paradigms such as the disturbance to cover large and deep gaps in our scientific knowledge. Human ecology is an uncertain terrain for anthropologists, geographers, and ecologists, and rarely is expanded to include the social and economic realms. The integration of different disciplines and the application of their many paradigms to problems of environmental complexity remains a distant goal despite the many efforts that have been made to achieve it. Philosophical and semantic barriers are erected when such integration is pursued by pioneering scientists. Recently, evolutionary ecology has shown great interest in the spatial processes well described by the emerging discipline of landscape ecology. But this interest takes the form of pure curiosity or at worst of skepticism toward the real capacity of landscape ecology to contribute to the advancement of ecological science. The past two centuries have been characterized by huge changes occurring in the entire ecosphere. Global changes are the effects of human intervention at a planetary scale with consequent degradation of the environment, creating an ecological debt for future generations. On the other side of the issue, new technologies have improved the welfare of billions of people and have given hope to many other billions that they may also see such improvement in the near future.

The Architecture of Address

Jake Adam York, 2004-05-01 The Architecture of Address traces the evolution of an American species of lyric capable of public pronouncement without polemic. Beginning with Whitman, Jake Adam York seeks to describe a kind of poem wherein the most ambitious poets, including Hart Crane and Robert Lowell, occupy and reconstruct important public spaces. This study argues that American poets become civic actors when their poems imagine and reconstruct the conceptual architecture of the monument.

Aboriginal Maritime Landscapes in South Australia Madeline E. Fowler, 2019-07-23 Aboriginal Maritime Landscapes in South Australia reveals the maritime landscape of a coastal Aboriginal mission, Burgiyana Point Pearce, in South Australia, based on the experiences of the Narungga community. A collaborative initiative with Narungga peoples and a cross-disciplinary approach have resulted in new understandings of the maritime history of Australia. Analysis of the long-term participation of Narungga peoples in Australia's maritime past, informed by Narungga oral histories, primary archival research, and archaeological fieldwork, delivers insights into the world of Aboriginal peoples in the post-contact maritime landscape. This demonstrates that multiple interpretations of Australia's maritime past exist and provokes a reconsideration of how the relationship between maritime and Indigenous archaeology is seen. This book describes the balance ground shaped through the collaboration, collision, and reconciliation of Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal peoples in Australia. It considers community-based practices cohesively recording such areas of importance to Aboriginal communities as beliefs, knowledges, and lived experiences through a maritime lens, highlighting the presence of Narungga and Burgiyana peoples in a heretofore Western dominated maritime literature Through its consideration of such themes as maritime archaeology and Aboriginal history the book is of value to scholars in a broad range of disciplines including archaeology anthropology history and Indigenous studies Tourism Innovation in Spain and Portugal João Leitão, Vanessa Ratten, Vitor Braga, 2021-09-29
