Keith Neilson

40 Minute War:

The Foreign Office's War, 1939-41 Keith Neilson, 2022 Provides a forceful corrective to the idea that Britain stood alone until the invasion of the Soviet Union and the attack on Pearl Harbor brought about the Grand Alliance Based on extensive archival research the book demonstrates that 1939 to 1941 was a period of intensive diplomatic activity by the British Foreign Office designed to ensure that Britain's potential enemies especially Soviet Russia Italy and Japan remained neutral and that its most desirable potential ally the United States remained as friendly as possible until it could be persuaded to join in the conflict The book highlights the importance of diplomacy towards neutrals for British policy considers the complexities of the situation tying together issues such as blockade and the disposition of British forces in various theatres explores decision making within the British government examining how the diplomatic considerations of the Foreign Office played into wider debates amongst ministers and senior civil servants and discusses the various courses towards neutrals including alternatives advocated within the Foreign Office Overall the book provides a rich highly nuanced view of British policy in this crucial period

Britain, Southeast Asia and the Onset of the Cold War, 1945-1950 Nicholas Tarling, 1998-10-13 This detailed study throws light on the evolution of British policy in South east Asia in the turbulent post war period Through extensive archival research and insightful analysis of the British mindset and official policy Tarling demonstrates that South east Asia was perceived as a region consisting of mutually co operating new states rather than a fragmented mass The book covers the immediate post war period until the Colombo plan and the outbreak of hostilities in Korea A companion volume to Tarling's Britain Southeast Asia and the Onset of the Pacific War it finds parallels between Britain's approach to the threat of Japan and its approach to the threat of communism It also shows that the British sought to shape US involvement in part by involving other Commonwealth countries especially India This is a major contribution to the diplomatic and political history of South east Asia

De Gaulle and Churchill Evan McGilvray, 2024-05-30 De Gaulle and Churchill examines the tense and complicated relationship between General de Gaulle as leader of the Free French on the one hand and Winston Churchill and the British Government on the other Evan McGilvray shows that De Gaulle was a career soldier not a politician by any means prior to 1940 but stepped into the leadership vacuum after the fall of France to provide a vital figurehead and rallying point for the Free French movement His experiences in WW1 where he had served with distinction and was decorated but then was captured and so missed the nadir of despair expressed in the mutiny of 1917 meant he did not share the general defeatism of his peers in 1940 De Gaulle had demonstrated between the wars that he understood modern warfare and the need for modernization and reform of the French forces Churchill valued the Free French contribution particularly the French colonies as bulwarks to the British Middle East and jumping off points for a Mediterranean counteroffensive but demonstrated his ruthless willingness to ride roughshod over French sensibilities This was most famously demonstrated by the sinking of the French fleet to prevent it falling into German hands The author traces their difficult relationship from the dark days of the Fall of France to the final victory with de Gaulle by then installed as head of the provisional government of the French Republic This fascinating study concludes with the immediate post war period by which time Churchill and de Gaulle had developed a warmer more mutually respectful relationship History of Our War with Spain James Rankin Young, Joseph Hampton Moore, 1898 The Regimental War Game Friedrich Immanuel, 1907 The War of the rebellion: a compilation of the official records of the Union and Confederate armies, prepared by R.N.
