

Cooking hints

These two pages explain some of the cooking words and skills which appear in the recipes in this book. Read through them before you start to cook.

Breaking an egg

Crack the shell by tapping an egg sharply on the rim of a cup or a bowl. Push your thumbs into the crack and pull the shell apart.

Adding salt and pepper

Try adding a pinch of salt and three or four "twists" of a peppermill.

In some recipes you will find that it says to add some salt and pepper. The amount you add depends on your own taste.

Making stock

Crumble a stock cube into a measuring jug, then pour boiling water into the jug. Stir it with a spoon until the cube dissolves.

Sifting

1. You sift an ingredient to get rid of any lumps. Place your sieve over a large bowl and spoon in the correct amount.

Beating a mixture

Before you begin to beat a mixture, put a damp dishcloth under your bowl. This stops the bowl from slipping as you beat.

Peeling potatoes

Wash your potatoes in cold water, first.

Hold a potato in one hand, then scrape a vegetable peeler towards you again and again to remove all the skin.

2. Lift the sieve slightly and shake it from side to side. You may need to use a spoon to push the last bit through the sieve.

Briskly stir the ingredients together with a wooden spoon or whisk, until they make a smooth, creamy mixture.

Grating cheese

Cut a piece of cheese which weighs more than you need. Grate some, then weigh the grated cheese. Grate more if you need to.
