severely abridged and sanitized version published in 1905 and again 1908 which inaugurated the tradition of seeing De Profundis as the apologia pro sua vita of a broken man This edition takes account of this complex heritage by arguing that Wilde's prison document may be seen not just as the basis of a letter a typed copy of which may have been sent to Douglas but also as an unfinished literary work which he intended for public consumption at some future date Such a case is made by placing in the public domain often for the first time a number of different works derived from different texts each of which bears witness to Wilde's multiple intentions for his prison document These texts comprise the manuscript held in the British Library the version of Wilde's letter published by his son Vyvyan Holland from a typescript bequeathed to him by Robert Ross hitherto unpublished witnesses to that typescript and Ross's editions collated with each other The commentary to this edition again for the first time sets Wilde's story of his own life in De Profundis against the testimony of other players in his drama including most importantly that of Douglas In so doing it exposes the partial nature of Wilde's narrative as well as the personal obsessions which animated it The commentary also demonstrates a hitherto unnoticed element of Wilde's work the extent and nature of its richly layered intertextuality and its similarity in its compositional practices to many of his earlier works
