Bowman, 1997-09-05 The authors draw on comparative data from 10 medium sized cities and examine 40 city supported development projects to show how city investment in and regulation of development projects is the most effective way for political leaders to control and shape the future of their city 19 illustrations Annual

Announcement of the West End Women's Club, Chicago West End Woman's Club (Chicago, Ill.), 1926 The Politics of Urban Development Clarence Nathan Stone, Heywood T. Sanders, 1987 In the past twenty years the study of urban politics has shifted from a predominant concern with political culture and ethos to a preoccupation with political economy particularly that of urban development Urban scholars have come to recognize that cities are shaped by forces beyond their boundaries From that focus have emerged the views that cities are clearly engaged in economic competition that market processes are shaped by national policy decisions sometimes intentionally and sometimes inadvertently and that the costs and benefits of economic growth are unevenly distributed But what else needs to be said about the policies and politics of urban development To supplement prevailing theories The Politics of Urban Development argues that the role of local actors in making development decisions merits closer study Whatever the structural constraints politics still matters Collectively the essays provide ample evidence that local government officials and other community actors do not simply follow the imperatives that derive from the national political economy they are able to assert a significant degree of influence over the shared destiny of an urban population The impact of the collection is to heighten awareness of local political practices and of how and why they make a difference Intergovernmental Cooperation in Urban Development United States. Department of Housing and Urban Development, 1968 City of Milwaukee Milwaukee (Wis.). Dept. of City Development, 1965* Fundamental Trends in City Development Giovanni Maciocco, 2007-12-03 The Reinvented City reflects on externity the principal feature of a reinvented city Three basic trends of the city are investigated discomposed generic and segregated phenomena with the loss of the city as a space of social interaction and communication Important questions are posed What is the true public sphere in contemporary societies What is the contemporary public space corresponding to it In what way can the city project construct contemporary public space
